What are the Top Level Domain Designations?

.com	For commercial entities, which anyone, anywhere in the world, can register.
.net	Originally designated for organizations directly involved in Internet operations. It is increasingly being used by businesses when the desired name under "com" is already registered by another organization. Today anyone can register a name in the Net domain.
.org	For miscellaneous organizations, including non-profits.
.biz	For business organizations.
.info	For anyone, anywhere in the world, can register.
.edu	For four-year accredited institutions of higher learning.
.gov	For US Federal Government entities
.mil	For US military
Country Codes	For individual countries based on the International Standards Organization. For example, ca for Canada, and jp for Japan.
